

TRI-UNIVERSITY GRADUATE PROGRAM IN HISTORY

HI 700/7000 PROFESSIONAL DEVELOPMENT SEMINAR, 2016-17

This seminar is designed to provide first-year doctoral students the opportunity for professional development, defined broadly, for success in the program and in academic and non-academic careers afterwards. It also serves to bring the first-year cohort together, and to put it in touch with senior PhD students who are encouraged to attend sessions of interest to them.

In four sessions per term, the seminar will explore topics such as conferencing, publishing, teaching, digital history, building bridges to non-academic audiences, and making the post-degree transition to non-academic employment. The selection of speakers will mix the perspectives of graduate faculty and senior doctoral students.

There are no assignments for this pass/fail seminar, but attendance is mandatory and participation in discussion is expected.

Schedule for Fall 2016

Strategies for Thriving in the Tri-U Program (Adam Crerar and Kyle Falcon)

Friday, September 9, 12:00-2:00pm, Wilfrid Laurier University, DAWB 5-148

Conferences and Conferencing (Gwenith Cross and Amy Milne-Smith)

Friday, September 30, 3:30-5:00pm, Wilfrid Laurier University, DAWB 2-101

Publish and Thrive, or The Pleasures and Practicalities of Publishing (Seth Adema and Catharine Wilson)

Friday, November 11, 3:30-5:00pm, University of Guelph, MacKinnon 132

The Historian as Digital Citizen (Ian Milligan and Ian Muller)

Friday, December 2, 3:30-5:00pm, University of Waterloo, Hagey Hall 139

Winter term sessions are being scheduled and will be finalized later in the term.